

Ezekiel 33:20-31 New International reader's Version (NIrV)

²⁰ So the LORD and King speaks to them. He says, "I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the skinny sheep.

²¹ You push the other sheep around with your hips and shoulders. You use your horns to butt all the weak sheep.

Finally, you drive them away. ²² But I will save my sheep.

They will not be carried off anymore. I will judge between one sheep and another. ²³ I will place one shepherd over them. He will belong to the family line of my servant David.

He will take good care of them. He will look after them. He will be their shepherd. ²⁴ I am the LORD. I will be their God.

And my servant from David's family line will be the prince among them. I have spoken. I am the LORD.

²⁵ "I will make a covenant with them. It promises to give them peace. I will get rid of the wild animals in the land.

Then my sheep can live safely in the desert. They can sleep in the forests. ²⁶ I will make them and the places surrounding my holy mountain of Zion a blessing. I will send down rain at the right time. There will be showers of blessings.

²⁷ The trees will bear their fruit. And the ground will produce its crops. The people will be secure in their land. I will break the chains that hold them. I will save them from the power of those who made them slaves. Then they will know that I am the LORD. ²⁸ The nations will not carry them off anymore. Wild animals will no longer eat them up. They will live in safety. And no one will make them afraid. ²⁹ I will give them a land that is famous for its crops. They will never again be hungry there. The nations will not make fun of them anymore. ³⁰ Then they will know that I am with them. I am the LORD their God. And the Israelites will know that they are my people," announces the LORD and King.

³¹ "You are my sheep. You belong to my flock. And I am your God," announces the LORD and King.
